PREPARING FOR

It is true that nothing has been of as great value to the farmers of Virginia from a pecuniary standpoint as has foxhunting.

There is acarcely a farmer of the State to-day who is not a sportsman at heart and who does not love to hear the "sound of the horn and the cry of the hounds," but apart from this natural instinct, this inherited love of horse and dog, the sport has brought dollars to his pocket and prosperity to his community.

munity.

This has been proved in the great advance in land values which has immediately followed the inauguration of a well managed hunt club.

Well to do people choose a locality where there is good, healthy amusement, and the introduction of wealth into a locality brings prosperity. An instance of this has been the wonderful material advance of Warrenton, of Leesburg, of Keswick, of Millwood, all this State. Property values have increased amazingly and the local fariners have profited in many ways.

Not only does land bring a high price, but horses and provender find a ready market at profitable prices.

A Great Advertisement.

The trials will be a great advertise-ment for Pledmont Valley, selected as the best hunting country in America for the greatest hound match that has yet been greatest hound match that has yet been run on this side of the water.

This is the opinion of Mr. H. Rozier Dulany, of the Piedmont Hunt; Mr. James K. Maddux, M. F. H., of Warrenton Hunt, and Mr. John R. Townsend, M. F. H., of Orange County Hunt. Mr. Westmoreland Davis, M. F. H., of Loundon Hunt, has written an extremely interesting article on the subject, which we publish in part.

First, then, he raises and sells his horaes, not as colts, but frequently as finished hunters for large prices to men able to pay, who are encouraged to buy by the sight of the horses following the hounds.

He supplies the provender for the hunting catablishment which leave manuraupon the soil. Hunting men always feel it a pleasure to deal when they can with producers in their district.

A better idea of the financial possibilities may be had, when we consider the following statistics quoted from an excellent English authority. The appearance of two new and promplising players has given Columbia high hopes of turning out a strong team, Jack Ryan, of the St. Bartholomew Club, and Marcus Hurley, the bicycle champion, are the two new men of whom so much is expected.

Alterior is plenty of good material for the couches to work on and build up another react eleven.

Mack, from Mercersberg, the new athelic trainer, already has charge of the training of the men, and he will make every effort to make as good an impression as Murphy did.

Fitz was sold to another league and left this league some weeks ago, returning to his home here. Next season he will again sign with Birmingham. His work in the box was more than could be expected of a pitcher who goes in fast company the first season.

For the benefit of those in the city who are much interested in the standing of the clubs in the Southern League the per centage to Saturday morning is given below:

Jake Wells Interested.

That Richmond will have a fast baseball team next year is now a foregone conclusion. Measrs, Dorati and Bradley, lessees of Broad Street Park, have, it is said, recently conferred with Mr. Jake Wells, the well-known theatrical man and ex-baseball manager and player, with a view to having him take charge of the league for the season. Mr. Wells is said to favor the proposition and already several good players from the city and from the Virginia-North Carolina League have been approached upon the subject of their playing in a State, or tri-State league next year.

Such baseball as the Twin City League has given to the fans in the city this year has proven to be a paying business. Individually the players have received more money than they have for games in previous years. The Saturday gumes at Broad Street Park have been witnessed by hundreds, yes thousands of people.

witnessed by hundreds, yes thousands of people.

With a Richmond team composed of some of the following players, it would be hard to make them loss the pennant: Rose or Jennings in left field, Bachs, Hicks or McEvoy at third; Sharp or Phillips at short; Swift, Eacho, Boone, or Edwards at second; Cross, Gruner, McLeavey, or Mills at first; Mills, Cross, McLeavey, or Elmore behind the bat; Bowers or Kenningham in right; and Leake, Charters, Winston, Fitzpatrick, Trovillan, Crawford and Brooks to do the ptching, Any of these pitchers can do good work in the field, and with a team pleked from this number of players, with a manager who could and would handle them, Richmond would be in a position to go against any aggregation from any other city in Virginia or North Carolina.

mond that will stand him in good accelerat season.

Crawford was the mainstay of the Richmond team in the Twin City League Tor the greater part of the season, and but for errors and poor playing behind him, there would have been more games to his credit here.

Jimmie and Johnnie.

Jimmie McEvey, who played third-base for a team in the Virginia-Carolina League, is in Richmond now, and has about recovered from his injuries received in a fracas in Danville. Some unknown man siashed the test inticider, and for a time his life was despaired of. But by the time the season opens next year, he will be in his old position, his wounds all healing well, and leaving him none the worse for his experience.

John McEvoy is another good man at third-base, and by next season he will be in his brother's company.
